

Timeless comfort, Untamed Beauty

Nestled in the heart of Mikumi National Park's scenic Kikoboga Area, Mikumi Wildlife Lodge offers breathtaking views of the park's vast landscapes and one of its many natural watering holes, a favorite gathering spot for elephants, antelopes, and other wildlife. The lodge features 48 elegantly crafted rooms, each overlooking the watering hole and offering uninterrupted views of the plains, allowing guests to spot wildlife right from the comfort of their rooms & the Lodge's Public spaces. Blending modern luxury with authentic African charm, Mikumi Wildlife Lodge delivers world-class amenities, personalized service, and the signature Wellworth style of refined hospitality, creating a safari experience like no other.

MIKUMI NATIONAL PARK

Mikumi National Park, Tanzania's fourth-largest protected area, covers approximately 3,230 km² and plays a vital ecological role as a wildlife corridor connecting to the vast Nyerere National Park (formerly Selous Game Reserve) in the south. Historically, this region was home to nomadic communities and formed part of an ancient trade route between the interior and the Swahili coast.

Established to conserve the Mkata River floodplains, the park is renowned for its open landscapes, which attract large herds of wildlife especially during the dry season.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Ideal for spotting large herds of elephants, giraffes, buffalo, and predators such as lions and hyenas.
- Tree-Climbing Lions, one of the few places in Tanzania to see this rare behavior.
- Uluguru Mountains' majestic backdrops and perfect for scenic photography.
- Birdwatching Paradise with over 400 recorded species.
- Several hiking trails and waterfalls to explore in and around Mikumi region.
